

Psychologic problem solving

Children are exposed to psychological problems due to being away from school resulting from certain conditions such as poverty, Coronavirus and other difficult circumstances.

The method of solving and treating these psychological problems is psychological supporting for the child by his guardian. This support includes listening to them, telling them the truth, saying upbeat news, enhancing the child's sense of control during daily activities and telling him that it's normal for him to feel uncomfortable or anxious. At the same time the child have to doing various activities, not to spending long time on social media or electronic games and finally keep trying to learn.

If the guardian needs a help he can take an advice from psychological counselor.
